OF WHAT ARE WE THINKING?

By George Barr McCutcheon
of The Vigilantes

What is in the mind of the Amercan citizen while "The Star Spangled Banner" is being played?

Of what are we thinking?

Are we thinking of the flag and all that it stands for, or are our thoughts otherwise engaged?

Of course, it is reasonably certain that we are thinking of something but have our thoughts the slightest connection with the message our flag is carrying to the enemy?

We obediently arise with the first sonorous note of the anthem and we remain standing till the end. We have learned, or we are learning, to "face the music" more or less at attention, and we are developing the conviction that it is an offence to chatter while the strains of our war-song, perhaps our death-song, fill our ears. But are we thinking of "The Star Spangled Banner"?

Or are we silently urging the musicians to hurry up and be done with it so that we may resume an interrupted occupation? Are we impatiently waiting to take up a broken conversation; a game of bridge; the telling of a story; the reading of a newspaper; the liberal art of criticizing the War Department, the Navy or the Administration; or, what is infinitely more incompatible, exploiting the hateful efficiency of the foe?

We sit in public places, and we arise because we are in public places. We suspend for the moment our physical interests, and we look about us to see if other people are doing the same? Some of us get up grudgingly and stand as we happen to have been sitting, with our backs to the music; some of us go on knitting; others of us continue to keep our hands in our pockets and our cigars in our mouths; others think that nothing more is required of them than the lowering of the voice to an undertone; others consider a bland expression of resignation to be sufficient; and some fall into an attitude of tolerant submissiveness. There is little or no evidence of exaltation, no sign of an inward thrill, no suggestion of a profound emotion. The beautiful, inspiring concentration of thought that attends the "Marseillaise" is lacking; the full-hearted sensation that glorifies "Rule Britannia" is absent; even the fervor of the Teuton as symbolized in guttural claims is sadly wanting. We, the most imaginative, the most of people in the world, are totally devoid of imagination during the rendition of our war-song.

Why should we not think, or even pray, as the French, the English and the Germans think and pray while their songs of hope is being sounded?

"The Star Spangled Banner" is our battle-song. It goes into the thick of the fight with our flag and our boys. It emphasizes our hopes, our aims, our longings; and of what are we thinking—we who stay at home—while its strains are falling upon our ears? Are we, so to speak, playing the game?

Why shouldn't we, one and all, great and small, think alike for as long as five minutes in each day? Let there be but one thought, one prayer, while the hymn is ringing. From one end of this great land to the other let this be the beginning of our prayer the instant the band strikes up "The Star Spangled Banner."

"God be with our flag and our soldiers and our arms wherever they may be!"

And let this be the end of our devout, intensified prayer as the last note dies away:

"God give us Victory!"

Not perfunctorily, not as a matter of duty, but with our hearts in it, our nerves aqiver, our eyes glowing with the fire of enthusiasm.

One thought, one prayer in a hundred million minds!

Every heart full, every mind intent as we face the enemy! For, after all, this Star Spangled banner of ours is facing the foe in a far-off land, and there is no other direction in which we may look.

Our men go with the banner to the music of guns; we stand at home and face, not the guns, but a group of fiddlers! Our

GALBRAITH BROS.
TO RETURN HERE
NEXT FEBRUARY

The musical entertainment given by Galbraith brothers, of Brockville, at the Susquehanna College of Music last evening under the auspices of the Third Ward House company, was a rare treat for all who were present. This was the second night of their appearance in Clearfield and while the audience was not as large as it would have been under proper circumstances, everybody was more than well pleased with the excellent program rendered.

Galbraith Brothers are among the best known musicians in Western Pennsylvania and they not only added greatly to their already fine reputation by their Clearfield appearance but made a lot of warm friends here.

On account of it being Chautauqua week and several other counter attractions both nights the financial returns were not what was expected and the Third Ward boys have contracted with Galbraith Brothers for a return engagement in February next.

Washington, July 27.—American fighting forces from France have reached Italy, Chief of Staff March announced today.

At the same time he announced the formation of two new army corps in France—4 and 5 and stated that the Allied lines in the present offensive have been reduced from 74 to 64 miles. The line around the salient was originally one hundred miles.

The Germans, formerly 38 miles from Paris, are now 49 miles away at the nearest point.

The fourth army corps under General Reed consists of the 33d, 89th, 87th, 20th, 90th, and 92d divisions. The last is a colored division.

The fifth consists of the 6th, 36th, 76th, 79th, 85th, and 91st divisions. It is commanded by General Bundy.

American forces in France now number 1,253,600. This shows 53,000 men sent over the last week, or a decrease of about 50,000 men due to the sending of increased supplies and equipment.

Reviewing the situation March said that Espieds had been captured and recaptured four times, finally remaining in American hands.

Paris, July 27, 4 p. m.—Franco-American forces are driving on the southern extremity of the Soissons-Meims salient between Verneuil and Chatillon-sur-Marne. They have tightened this side of the pocket until it is about 8 kilometers or less than 5 miles in width. French and American aviators bombed the main road south of France, blocking traffic for eleven hours.

BOY SCOUTS RETURNED FROM
STATE COLLEGE

Twenty-eight members of Troop 2, Boy Scouts, DuBois, returned home yesterday afternoon from State College, where they have been camping for the past week. The boys were in charge of scout master J. C. A. Holland and Assistant Wayne Freas. They occupied tents on the college campus and had free access to every facility of the college gymnasium and grounds. Two hours of drill were had each day, an hour in the morning and one hour in the afternoon, the instruction being given by a regular army officer stationed at that institution.

It was an outing enjoyed by every member and they returned home hugely pleased with the trip.

The party passed through Clearfield and lined up in front of the Court House about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and serenaded District Attorney Arnold with several of their camp songs.

The genial District Attorney was tickled to death to see the kids, every one of whom was known to him personally, and made them a neat little speech before they jumped into their cars and started for home.

A SOLDIER'S PRAYER

Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my soul to keep.
Grant no other soldier take
My shoes and socks before I wake.Lord guard me in my sleep
And keep my bunk upon its feet;
May the bark not tear or break
And let me down before I wake!Keep me safely in Thy sight
And grant no one drill tonight.
And in the morning let me wake
Breathing waifs of British attack!Lord protect me in my dreams
And make this better than it seems.
Grant the time may swiftly fly
When I myself may rest on high
In a snowy feather bed
When I long to rest my head.Far away from all these scenes
From the smell of hash and beans
Take me back into the land
Where they don't scrub down with sandWhen "Northern" blows
And "Southern" women wash the clothes,
I'll be home with my head

Pitcairn Island, situated in the Pacific almost midway between Australia and South America is probably the most isolated inhabited spot in the world. Sometimes a year passes without the arrival of mail. Letters are sent from the United States by way of San Francisco, and Tahiti and these lie at the latter place awaiting some vessel that will touch at the island. It once happened that only two vessels called there during a period of twenty-six years.

BORAX SOAP CHIPS

Sweaters washed in a luke-warm solution of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips will not shrink. They will be soft, fluffy, and hygienically cleaned because the Borax purifies them of odors and dirt which woollens absorb so readily.

To get best results make a soap jelly by dissolving three tablespoons of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips in a quart of boiling water and add to wash water. After cleaning, rinse sweater in warm water, pull out, shake thoroughly and dry in sun or air. An 8 oz. package of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips equals 25¢ worth of ordinary laundry soap.

U. S. OCCUPIES CENTER OF STAGE

In the western Atlantic, and the brilliant and daring feat of the British in bottling up the Teuton submarines bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge were among other events that the fourth year added to the history of the war.

The fifth year of the war begins with the United States in the center of the world's war stage. A million men are fighting under the Stars and Stripes in France and more millions are soon to follow. The United States is lending money by the hundreds of millions to the Allied governments. Its munitions and supplies are going to every nation warring against German autocracy. It is sending food to the fighting powers and is defying the ingenuity of the German submarines to sink the continuous line of ships that is bridging the Atlantic with supplies and men.

The fourth year of the war ends with the original contestants still locked in a death grapple, though with the general situation strongly favoring the Allies and with indications that decisive blows may be struck before many more weeks have passed.

The Fifth year, that begins tomorrow, will see a display of power on the part of the United States that will astound the world. The struggle is henceforth between American democracy and German autocracy. The chief contestants from this day are Uncle Sam and the Kaiser.

STANDARD PHYSICAL REQUIREMENTS FOR THE ENTIRE ARMY

Medical Department Adopts Regulations to Govern All Examinations

The following statement is authorized by the war department from the office of the surgeon general:

Uniform standards of physical examination governing the entrance to all branches of the armies of the United States for the use of all medical officers of the medical department of the army and of local and medical advisory boards under the selective-service regulations have just been mailed.

Guide to Local Physicians

Adherence to the new rules and regulations by the local boards will, it is expected, result in uniform examinations in all parts of the country and should prevent men physically disqualified for military service from being sent to camps. At the same time the new standards will enable local physicians to make examinations with a better understanding of the needs of the army and will clear away misconceptions and misunderstandings which will result in the sending of men to camps who heretofore were rejected.

The new standards are applicable to the Regular Army, National Army and the National Guard. Explicit instructions are given as to what classes of men may be accepted for limited service as well as what classes may be accepted pending treatment for remediable defects.

The experience of the past year has enabled the medical authorities to establish standards of examination which will relieve the local boards of considerable doubts as to just what decisions to make in unusual cases. Enough of these cases have been examined to establish a policy in determining their military fitness.

Standards Different Heretofore

Heretofore the physical standards of the three armies have differed and instances have been noted where men who have been rejected for service by the recruiting officers of the Regular army have been accepted for military service by draft board physicians. Under the new standards this will not be possible unless the disqualifying defect be subsequently removed. The rule for all three armies is that to make a good soldier a man must be able to see well, have comparatively good hearing, his heart must be able to stand the stress of physical exertion, he must be intelligent enough to understand and execute military maneuvers, obey commands, and protect himself, and must be able to transport himself by walking as the exigencies of military life may demand.

The exceptions made to the foregoing general rule are in the case of the men accepted for special and limited service.

EDITOR'S NEPHEW ABOARD

Ralph W. Bixler nephew of Editor John R. Bixler of the Curwensville Herald was a machinist's mate on the cruiser San Diego recently sunk off Fire Island.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Elder and son, who reside at Renovo, are visiting with relatives over on the South Side.

Mrs. Lantz, of Clearfield, was the guest of Mrs. Isaac Black on north Pine street, yesterday.

Harry Kittleberger has been laid off from work this week all on account of a dose of lumbago which has tried its best to knock him out.

The Liberty Chorus of Clearfield was present at the Eastv flag raising last evening and rendered some excellent patriotic music.

Miss Margaret Patterson let yesterday noon, over the B. & P., for Du Bois, where she will spend some days visiting with a cousin.

A goodly number of the town's sugar and maple shade trees which have died within the past six months, are being cut down and converted into kindling wood.

Seven Curwensville merchants have agreed to make only one free goods delivery per day. This new rule will be applied for the first time on Monday, July 29th.

Among the forty-four men who left for Camp Lee Thursday morning, nine of them were from Curwensville, and one, Willard McNaull, was transferred from Missouri to Curwensville's credit.

Last Wednesday evening, July 24th, Rev. J. Max Lantz, of the Methodist church united in the holy bonds of wedlock Guy E. Tozer and Miss Margaret E. Selfridge, both of this place.

The members of this year's graduating class of the Patton Graded High School were entertained at the home of Miss Marian Snyder, who was a member of the class, one evening the latter part of this week.

Mrs. James Taylor, who before her marriage was Gertrude Bilger, and who was born and raised in this town, visited her brothers here for an hour or so, she having stopped over while en route to her home in Youngstown, Ohio.

Lewis Spencer and Wife and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kirk, who reside on Ridge avenue, left Thursday morning by auto for a two week tour. Their itinerary will take them through Bedford Springs, Gettysburg, and Washington, D. C.

Mrs. J. H. Fullerton and Miss Margaretta Patterson, both of this place, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Cox at Clearfield and assisted in giving the Curwensville contingent of soldier boys a good send off when they entrained for Camp Lee.

Messrs. James and William Mumma, of this place, were summoned to their old home in Fulton county last Tuesday to attend the funeral of their father. The elder Mr. Mumma was a veteran of the Civil war, and a man of good standing in the community in which he lived.

Miss Mary Kirk arrived at the home of Mrs. A. M. Kirk, this place, Thursday evening and will visit for some time. She has recently been in Paris, France, and during her absence from this section some twenty years, has visited in a good many different parts of the world.

The much-advertised base ball game which was to have been played between the "Colored Giants" and a club from Clearfield at Athletic Park Thursday evening did not materialize, owing to the fact that the club from the county seat did not appear. "The Giants" were on hand however and ready to deliver their part of the goods. Rather than disappoint the crowd that had gathered a substitute nine was picked up and some half dozen innings played, but owing to darkness could not be completed.

Next Monday evening borough council will meet in regular monthly session. It is intimated that at that time, if council has not too much other business on hand, the topic of negotiating with the water company for the purchase of the plant will be brot up. The main point to be discussed will be the money question and the best means for securing the amount needed without putting too much of a burden on the taxpayers. Ninety per cent. of the citizens are of the opinion that it would pay the borough in the long run to own the water plant as well as the electric light. Other towns have taken a leap at running their own water and electric light plants, and bonded their municipalities for a sum much larger than the whole indebtedness of Curwensville is at the present time. Every town that has made the venture has, and is finding out that it pays their towns to own their plants, and that it is only a matter of a few years, not over fifteen, that these plants taken over have paid off their own indebtedness and are now money makers for the towns and the people who reside therein. There is no doubt in the minds of those who have figured on the water question for Curwensville, of the insufficiency of this plant paying for itself. Let the people get together on this matter of high importance to each tax payer, petition the Raftsmen Water company for a conference and get a bona fide offer, which ought to be a reasonable one and then no doubt the people would sit up and take notice.

It seems that James Humphrey, of Pike township, is being unduly censured because he did not go to Camp Lee with the rest of the boys the other day. He made the effort all right, and went over a DuBois, from which point he was registered, and there learned that his name was not in Class 1 at all, but back in Class 4. He learned something else too, and that was just so long as he remained on the farm his name would be retained in Class 4, but if he left the farm, then he would be placed in Class 1. So it was not the lad's fault that he did not go.

The raising of a handsome flag over at Eastv last evening took a large proportion of the people residing in town and South Side in that direction. Eastv is not a very large place, but there are as many truly patriotic citizens living over there to the square foot as can be found anywhere in the United States. The people and committee who had the event in charge have worked hard and denied themselves no little pleasure in securing funds sufficient to purchase the flag and arranging for the patriotic event of having it thrown to the breeze.

The speakers for the occasion were Squire John A. Dale who was chairman of the committee or rather of the meeting, Rev. Max Lantz who offered an inspiring and emotional prayer, Judge Singleton Bell, of Clearfield, John M. Bain and Joseph E. Phillips of Clearfield and Mr. Way, borough chairman of the Four Minute Men organization of Curwensville. If a young man ever did have the spirit of '76 in his anatomy, it was certainly renewed with a stronger love for his country after listening to the patriotic addresses. At intervals throut the program music was rendered by the Crescent band and the Liberty Chorus of Clearfield and Old Glory was flung to the breeze while the Star Spangled Banner was rendered by the Crescent band and the chorus under the leadership of Professor Thayer while the entire assemblage joined in the singing. The committee in charge consisted of James Rider, Robert Eckert and Mrs. J. H. Fullerton who deserve considerable praise for the manner in which the entertainment was carried out. Prior to the exercises the band and chorus headed a fair sized parade from the park House to Eastv.

More Time Out of Doors---

You will thoroughly enjoy getting out of doors these hot, stuffy summer days, but perhaps you do not have the time because there is so much work to be done in your kitchen. If this is the case in your home you can easily change your kitchen work from drudgery to a pleasure, and at the same time save from two to three hours' every day for getting out of doors.

Dutch Kitchenets Are Labor Savers

The Dutch Kitchenet is cupboard, pantry and work table in one. Seated in front of this high grade kitchen cabinet you have within your reach every ingredient and every cooking utensil necessary to do your cooking and to prepare an entire meal. This eliminates all the walking about the kitchen, which is the most tiring work. It also eliminates all the time it usually takes for getting everything together to prepare a meal.

It means an actual saving of from two to three hours a day. This extra time can be spent out of doors in the garden, in the park, walking, automobiling or any other outdoor pleasure.

Buy A Dutch Kitchenet Now

This is the time when help of every sort is scarce. You need a Dutch Kitchenet more badly now than ever before. Our stock includes all the popular styles, and the prices you will find extremely moderate. We urge you to come to our store at once and select a Dutch Kitchenet that exactly pleases you.

The Chevrolet Motor Company considers a motor car purchase from the standpoint that it is an important investment.

They have built with this idea in mind, with a full realization that the car itself must make the distinction between investment and liability.

The Chevrolet is an investment, not alone because of its moderate price, but because of the little it costs after its purchase. In low upkeep especially, does the price of the Chevrolet qualify as an investment rich in economical service returns.

HUMANITY'S PAYER

By J. E. Myers, Mansfield, Ohio
O God, Our Father, we earnestly desire to give Thee thanks for all the blessings which enable us, our Father to come to Thee according to Thy knowledge of us. Commune with us and grant us comfort in sadness, guidance in perplexities, strength for all duty and preservation from all evil. If in thought, word or deed we have grieved Thee forgive us for the sake of Him who gave Himself for us, and wherein we have failed, grant us sufficient grace that we fail no more. May Thy good spirit make Thee so real to us, and reveal Thee so consciously near to us in all that lies before us, that when the hours of this day shall have passed away forever, there may be left no saddening memories of failures.

In all these things hear us, O Father, for others as well as ourselves, for all those dearest to us whether close at hand or far away. Grant a very special blessing on the heroic men and women who have given their full measure of devotion for all mankind—in foreign lands, in camps, trenches and hospitals and Red Cross services. May Thy strong arm protect and sustain them in all varied activities and manifold dangers, as they offer their very lives as a sacrifice on humanity's altar of liberty. May their mother's face be even before them, and Thy strong hand rest on their right shoulder to give courage and strength in their most trying moments.

For all these blessings and for Thy protecting influence, we offer our utmost praise and thanks to Thee, Triune God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, now and forever, world without end, and the glory only thine, AMEN.

FROM HERE AND THERE

One of the British cooperative societies has paid over $2,000,000 in benefits to its members who are in war service.

It is officially estimated that every soldier of the British army costs the nation between $1250 and $1500 a year.

It has been discovered that paper pulp of excellent quality can be made from the leaves of the fig tree which grows extensively in Mexico and the Central American countries.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR JULY 28

OBEYING GOD.

LESSON TEXTS—Matthew 4:18-22; John 1:22-24, James 1:2-7.
GOLDEN TEXT—If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments—John 14:15.
DEVOTIONAL READING—John 15:1-7.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Laying God and doing his will.

LESSON MATERIAL—Matthew 4:18-22; James 1:2-7.
INTERMEDIATE, SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Obedience. To whom? Why? How?

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—1. Chronicles 16:15. Psalms 100:3-5; Matthew 5:19; John 15:12-14, 1 John 3:3-6, 17.

Obedience is a vital part of our religion. The obedience of the Christian is not legal but filial. Eternal life is not secured through obedience, but obedience is the tangible evidence that one possesses it.

1. The Call of the First Disciples (Matt. 4:18-22).
1. By whom—Jesus Christ (v. 18). Jesus is the Son of God. Since he is equal with God, he has the right to call. Those who hear his call should render instant and hearty obedience.

2. The circumstances of their call (v. 18).
The call came to them while they were busy with their business interests. God always calls men who are vitally engaged in some business, not those in idleness.

3. The nature of (v. 19).
It was a definite call, in that definite men were called into a definite service.

(1) To follow Christ. We must follow Christ before we can serve him. Only Christians can do Christian work. We should follow him to be like him, in order to win others to him.

(2) To win men for him—"Fishers of men." Christ calls men into work of the same character as that in which they were engaged. They had been fishers for fish; now they are to be fishers of men. When Christ calls men he does not call them to a lower service. This is a fine case of promotion. Men catch fish to kill and feed upon them, but Christ's disciples catch men to make them alive and feed them.

4. Response to Christ's call (vv. 20-22).
(1) They left their business interests immediately.

(2) They not only left their business, but James and John left their father also. Following Jesus sometimes means turning one's back upon business interests and dearest friends and relations. Regardless of what it costs, the true disciple will render instant obedience to the call of Christ, because he has a right to call us, and we can trust his wisdom to not call until he has need.

II. The Motive for Obedience (John 14:22-24).

The grand motive actuating obedience is love to Christ. The proof that we do love him is that we obey him. Even when we may not be conscious of unusual outpourings of affection, the conclusive evidence that we love is that we obey. Keeping his commandments means such a regard for them that we highly treasure them as something precious. The reward for such obedience is to have Christ's prayer for us to God to send his Holy Spirit upon us (John 14:16, 17). Then, too, the Father will love us, and he and the Son will take up their abode with us. This abode is not temporary but permanent.

III. The Kind of Obedience (John 14:22-24).

1. The obedience of deeds (vv. 22-24).
Hearing God's Word will do no good unless it is accompanied with obedience. Hearing and not doing is as futile as beholding one's face in a looking glass and forgetting what manner of man he is. Calling Christ (Lord), and not doing what he says, with all nothing (Matt. 7:21, 23). To pretend to know God and not keep his commandments is to lie (1 John 2:4).

2. The obedience of perseverance (v. 25).
We should not only look into God's Word and admire its perfections, but steadfastly and persistently do the things required. Only those who thus persevere shall be blessed in their deeds.

3. The obedience of speech (v. 26).
The one who has genuine religion will control his tongue. Just as the physician oftentimes can diagnose the physical condition of the patient by an examination of the tongue, so the moral and spiritual condition of the individual can be determined by the speech of the individual. The one who does not control his tongue proves that his religion is empty and void.

4. The obedience of kindness (v. 27).
Those who have received the kindness of God will manifest that kindness in their lives. This kindness will express itself in ministering to the fatherless and widows.

5. The obedience of purity of life (v. 27).

The Law of God enjoins upon his children not only purity of life, but abstinence from all appearance of evil. The one who has been made a partaker of the Divine nature keeps himself from the sins of the world. It means his separation from the things of the world which corrupt.

There will be no supper served or dancing at the Country Club Saturday, July 27.

A customer remarked to us that she noticed an unmistakable strain, all seeming to say that she should buy what she needs and right away. Also to give close thought to the next several months and lay her plans for purchasing accordingly.

Just about a year ago we forecasted a scarcity of merchandise and the conditions ruling today.

It is not yet too late to take this advice and put it into effect at once.

GENERAL MARCH STATES THAT TIGHTENING OF NET HAS DRAWN ALLIED BATTLE LINE IN FROM 74 TO 64 MILES

AMERICAN FORCE SENT TO ITALY

(By United Press)

Everywhere on the Soisson-Rheims front the Allies' net is tightening around the army of the Crown Prince. The crisis in the great battle over the 100 mile line from Fontenoy to Main-de-Massiges is expected hourly.

Allied commanders are certain that the most important success of the war for the entente may be scored within 24 or 48 hours. Enemy forces within the narrowing salient are being subjected to the greatest artillery fire in history. Fere-en-Tardenois, almost within the grasp of the Allied forces this morning, was under concentrated bombardment of extreme violence. Missy-sur-Aisne, 5 miles east of Soissons, was also a magnet for shells of all calibers. The river bridge was the object there. The Allied fire renders it practically useless for north and south transportation by the Germans.

The French statement issued shortly after noon reported fresh advances north of the Marne and in the Champagne. The French advanced north of Pont-A-Binson in the Champagne and advanced 5-8 of a mile on a front of nearly 2 miles.

The Kaiser was reported today to have told Carl Rossner, his favorite correspondent, that "the worst is yet to come. The hardest work now lies before the Germans," the Kaiser is quoted as saying. "Our adversary knows that the decisive point has been reached and consequently is straining every effort of offense and counter stroke."

Hindenburg and Ludendorff meanwhile are crossing swords. The former is making Ludendorff accept blame for the German reverses. Hindenburg opposed the offensive plans, it was stated, but it was carried through over his head.

The toll taken by the Allied airmen increased as they continue to gain numerical superiority. A British statement today reported that 31 German airplanes and an observation balloon

AMATEUR AVIATOR BRINGS DOWN GERMAN ACE

By Frank J. Taylor
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With The American Army in France, July 26, night.—Lieut. Walter Avery, of Columbus, O., in his first airplane battle brought down the famous German ace, Captain Mendkopf, north of Onateau-Thierry yesterday. The rival aviators met while on patrol duty. For twenty minutes Mendkopf maneuvered to gain advantage over Avery. Then Avery forced him to land within the American lines. When Mendkopf learned this was Avery's initial fight he was sore. He sulked and refused to talk. Mendkopf has brought down 16 adversaries, including 1 American.

YANKS FIND LONG RANGE GUN EMPLACEMENT

By Fred S. Ferguson
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With The American Army in France, July 26, night.—American forces who advanced beyond Brecey (7 miles north of Chateau-Thierry) found the emplacement of the German long range gun which bombed Paris.

During the advance north of the Marne there are numerous instances where Americans have taken 6 to 12 Boches single handed.

This is the first intimation that Paris was bombed from a position so far to the south. The main bombardment is known to have come from guns located in the forest of St. Gobain, 25 miles north of Brecey. At the time of the first long range bombardment of Paris the Germans had not yet advanced to Brecey.

U. S. OCCUPIES CENTER OF STAGE AS THE WAR ENTERS INTO ITS NEW YEAR

Washington, July 27.—Four years ago tomorrow at the hour of noon the greatest armed conflict the world has ever known or is ever likely to know, was launched in Vienna by Austria's declaration of war against Serbia. Four years of warfare have come and gone and the conflict still continues, greater and more destructive than ever before, with no man able to predict how or when the end will come, though none may doubt the ultimate success of the Allies. Nearly all the nations of the world are engaged in the conflict and tremendous changes are going on in governments and peoples.

The fourth year contained many great events. The changes in nations and peoples were so momentous and the operations are on so vast a scale that the history of a thousand years of the world scarcely equals the record of this twelve months just passed. Throughout the year tremendous fighting has continued along the deadlocked line of trenches in France. The battle of the Marne in 1914, the battle of the Somme in 1916, and the battles of Arras and the Aisne in 1917 have been succeeded during the past few months by terrific fighting throughout almost the entire length of the Western front. Four times during this period have the Germans launched desperate drives in their efforts to break through to Paris or the Channel, only to be hurled back by the heroic armies of the Allies.

While the terrific fighting along the western front has been the outstanding feature of the fourth year of the war there have been other developments of great interest and importance. One of these was the Austro-German drive into Italy, the result of which is to be chalked down only as a severe disaster to the Central Powers. The longrange bombardment of Paris, the appearance of German submarines

GRAND OPEN AIR SERVICE AT THE CHAUTAUQUA TENT

A great open air meeting will be held at the Chautauqua tent tomorrow evening in place of the regular summer services in Witmer park. While a program is not yet fully prepared, it is certain that there will be a grand and glorious meeting. The Chautauqua people will provide music in the Berkeley Sextette of singers and instrumental musicians and Guy Bingham of the Chautauqua will give one of his inspiring lectures. The Liberty Chorus of Clearfield will be present to enliven the singing and it is more than likely that a sermon will be preached by one of the ministers of Clearfield. Tomorrow evening the tent is thrown open to every one who may wish to enjoy the services and inasmuch as the uptown churches will be closed the big tent will likely be crowded to the exits.

By United Press
Sacramento, July 27.—Governor Stephens this afternoon granted a reprieve to Thomas J. Mooney California labor leader convicted and sentenced to death from his alleged part in the San Francisco bomb outrage.

Fearing the effect Mooney's execution might have on Russia, President Wilson and other high officials recently earnestly appealed to Governor Stephens to grant Mooney a reprieve.

BASEBALL WILL END SEPTEMBER 7TH BAKER'S EDICT

By United Press
Pittsburgh, July 27.—Both of the major leagues will probably wind up the 1918 schedule by September 7, and play the world series as soon after that day as possible. This was learned on the highest authority by the United Press this afternoon. Its informant said that the plan to bring the season to an early close has been under consideration for some time. The players will be given twelve days after the last game to be played to look for opportunities for service under the "work or fight" rule.

FRANCE FINDS HERSELF

By George D. Gribble
(Written for the United Press)
(Copyright 1918, by United Press)
Paris, July 1.—After four years of war, France has found herself.

As I write this, in the suburbs of Paris, there is a ceaseless, sinister muttering, faint and persistent, increasing ominously when the breeze comes from the north-east. Those who were here in the fall of 1914 know what that distant growl means and whether it is tending. Two years later it came to us again across the hills from Verdun. The fate of the struggle is still on the knees of the gods. But whatever betide, this much is certain—the victory of the Marne has been fought out to its final conclusion. At last France has found herself.

For there was a double Battle of the Marne. There was the military battle, which, like Valmy some hundred and twenty years earlier, revealed the real France to an astounded universe and like Valmy failed to reap the full fruits of victory. There was also the Moral Battle of the Marne which was engaged, simultaneously, against the enemy within the gates. It has taken close on four years to crush him, for he was powerfully entrenched, and had as any heads as the hydra.

John Bunyan would have called these evil forces Political Corruption, Collusion, Compromise, National Egoism, Inertia, Avarice, Self-indulgence. Doubtless they are by no means peculiar to France, but what it is not easy to realize is the extent to which these forces had leagued together—the enormous strength of this infernal Pact. But those who do realize, who have seen through long years before the war the spread of the poison do not throw up their hands in horror and alarm every time a new Boer is brought to book, and cry out against the rottenness of the state.

The Misinterpreters

History will note, with little pleasure I think, that the epic years of 1914-18 were also the heyday for irresponsible chroniclers. From these France has had to suffer, perhaps more than any of her allies. And this because she, less than other modern nations, can be judged by average standards. Not only her enemies, her admiring friends have also been often discriminating, not to say obtuse. Having made a furious declaration of love, they feel too often that the ardour of their passion is a master key to all the problems of her organism. "If I can pronounce, or rather write 'je vous aime,' isn't that enough?" appears to be an all too common argument if not an excuse, for continuing blithely in the well-trodden paths of easy generalizations.

It is therefore not surprising that many Frenchmen read with some anxiety the explanation of their acts, the interpretation of their morality, which appear in print some thousand miles away. Every month if not oftener, we are assured that the morale of any and everyone of the Allied countries was never so high as at the present moment. The assurance recurs with the same regularity in all reviews of situations as that other assurance of the oia commune that all enemy raids are ill-starred. Yet we know that enemy raids occasionally succeed, and we have a general notion that the barometer of a nation's morale is not invariably at "Beau Fixe," or what we call "Fine and Dry."

Some Depression

In France as elsewhere there have been fluctuations during four years. About a year ago when for reasons which were not clear an offensive was discontinued which seemed big with promise, there was a marked depression. When Russia, after a last magnificent effort to make good, threw up the sponge and led down into the bochevism the meter went down. It decided drop after the last fall, the French f supermen.

more worthy of admiration than of sympathy. If at those moments Ludendorff had been ready on the western front, if he could have captured the "Chemin des Dames" just then, if the Gotha squadrons had been sufficiently drilled and Krupp's supercannon in place just then, if America had shown herself less ready and determined—well things might have turned out differently.

These "ifs" were not realized. Now it is too late. France had not then finished finding herself. She has now.

Politically France found herself when Georges Clemenceau seized, one might well say "wrested," the rudder of state out of the hands of his predecessors and started to man the ship for the storm which was drawing up from the East. The speeches from the bridge ceased abruptly. There were only short, preemptory orders. There was also a roll-call. Those who had proved their worth kept their posts of command. Such was the case with Chief Engineer Clavelle and Stoker-in-chief Loucheur. One of the most important changes was the appointment of a new Chief Steward, whereby a weak spot in former administrations was transformed into a bulwark of strength. His name is Victor Boret and it should be written in letters of gold.

An Original Man

He resembles Ludendorff in this that he has a way of upsetting well-established war axioms. There was one in rance about the inviolability of daily bread. To tamper with the staff of life—to whittle it down, it was affirmed, would mean disaster. Victor Boret would mean SHRED, P. The institution of meatless days, after last year's experiment was declared by economists, to be a failure. People simply bought what they needed the eve of the meat fast and often ate more meat than they would have done under normal conditions. Victor Boret again proved the contrary by simple device of restricting meat purchases on the day preceding the three meatless days.

As for municipal butcher shops, we had heard about them for a long time. Theoretically they were approved, but practically held to be unrealizable. They are now an established fact and working famously. So much so, that rival concerns are asking to be "municipalized."

In fact, the stomach of France, which had always been declared to be the delicate spot in her body politic, needing special humoring, has proved surprisingly robust and tractable.

Reward in Sight

And already the reward is in sight! The Admirable Boret has announced that the end of food restrictions is in view and that no new ones are contemplated. The price of meat shall decrease, and meatless days shall have their end ere long, for there is no longer any danger of the national livestock being exhausted. The German food dictator having announced a further cutting down of bread rations, our National henchman declares that ours soon shall be increased.

But the gladdest tidings of all in this respect, is the official announcement that France is looking forward to the best harvest she has known in twenty years. This news is not based merely on the reports of agricultural boards. It is the result of first-hand knowledge. For, like his chief, our food controller visits his front-line trenches, in this case the grain countries of France.

In every limb, in every muscle, France has found herself.

Finding America

And with the finding of her own true self, comes another discovery—that of her latest ally. Wonderful tales about the efficiency of American effort, American organization, American determination, had been heralded across the Atlantic for many months. Nor they entirely

OF WHAT ARE WE THINKING?

By George Barr McCutcheon
of The Vigilantes

What is in the mind of the Amercan citizen while "The Star Spangled Banner" is being played?

Of what are we thinking?

Are we thinking of the flag and all that it stands for, or are our thoughts otherwise engaged?

Of course, it is reasonably certain that we are thinking of something but have our thoughts the slightest connection with the message our flag is carrying to the enemy?

We obediently arise with the first sonorous note of the anthem and we remain standing till the end. We have learned, or we are learning, to "face the music" more or less at attention, and we are developing the conviction that it is an offence to chatter while the strains of our war-song, perhaps our death-song, fill our ears. But are we thinking of "The Star Spangled Banner"?

Or are we silently urging the musicians to hurry up and be done with it so that we may resume an interrupted occupation? Are we impatiently waiting to take up a broken conversation; a game of bridge; the telling of a story; the reading of a newspaper; the liberal art of criticizing the War Department, the Navy or the Administration; or, what is infinitely more incompatible, exploiting the hateful efficiency of the foe?

We sit in public places, and we arise because we are in public places. We suspend for the moment our physical interests, and we look about us to see if other people are doing the same? Some of us get up grudgingly and stand as we happen to have been sitting, with our backs to the music; some of us go on knitting; others of us continue to keep our hands in our pockets and our cigars in our mouths; others think that nothing more is required of them than the lowering of the voice to an undertone; others consider a bland expression of resignation to be sufficient; and some fall into an attitude of tolerant submissiveness. There is little or no evidence of exaltation, no sign of an inward thrill, no suggestion of a profound emotion. The beautiful, inspiring concentration of thought that attends the "Marseillaise" is lacking; the full-hearted sensation that glorifies "Rule Britannia" is absent; even the fervor of the Teuton as symbolized in guttural claims is sadly wanting. We, the most imaginative, the most of people in the world, are totally devoid of imagination during the rendition of our war-song.

Why should we not think, or even pray, as the French, the English and the Germans think and pray while their songs of hope is being sounded?

"The Star Spangled Banner" is our battle-song. It goes into the thick of the fight with our flag and our boys. It emphasizes our hopes, our aims, our longings; and of what are we thinking—we who stay at home—while its strains are falling upon our ears? Are we, so to speak, playing the game?

Why shouldn't we, one and all, great and small, think alike for as long as five minutes in each day? Let there be but one thought, one prayer, while the hymn is ringing. From one end of this great land to the other let this be the beginning of our prayer the instant the band strikes up "The Star Spangled Banner."

"God be with our flag and our soldiers and our arms wherever they may be!"

And let this be the end of our devout, intensified prayer as the last note dies away:

"God give us Victory!"

Not perfunctorily, not as a matter of duty, but with our hearts in it, our nerves aqiver, our eyes glowing with the fire of enthusiasm.

One thought, one prayer in a hundred million minds!

Every heart full, every mind intent as we face the enemy! For, after all, this Star Spangled banner of ours is facing the foe in a far-off land, and there is no other direction in which we may look.

Our men go with the banner to the music of guns; we stand at home and face, not the guns, but a group of fiddlers! Our

GALBRAITH BROS.
TO RETURN HERE
NEXT FEBRUARY

The musical entertainment given by Galbraith brothers, of Brockville, at the Susquehanna College of Music last evening under the auspices of the Third Ward House company, was a rare treat for all who were present. This was the second night of their appearance in Clearfield and while the audience was not as large as it would have been under proper circumstances, everybody was more than well pleased with the excellent program rendered.

Galbraith Brothers are among the best known musicians in Western Pennsylvania and they not only added greatly to their already fine reputation by their Clearfield appearance but made a lot of warm friends here.

On account of it being Chautauqua week and several other counter attractions both nights the financial returns were not what was expected and the Third Ward boys have contracted with Galbraith Brothers for a return engagement in February next.

(By United Press)

Washington, July 27.—American fighting forces from France have reached Italy, Chief of Staff March announced today.

At the same time he announced the formation of two new army corps in France—4 and 5 and stated that the Allied lines in the present offensive have been reduced from 74 to 64 miles. The line around the salient was originally one hundred miles.

The Germans, formerly 38 miles from Paris, are now 49 miles away at the nearest point.

The fourth army corps under General Reed consists of the 33d, 89th, 87th, 20th, 90th, and 92d divisions. The last is a colored division.

The fifth consists of the 6th, 36th, 76th, 79th, 85th, and 91st divisions. It is commanded by General Bundy.

American forces in France now number 1,253,600. This shows 53,000 men sent over the last week, or a decrease of about 50,000 men due to the sending of increased supplies and equipment.

Reviewing the situation March said that Epieds had been captured and recaptured four times, finally remaining in American hands.

Paris, July 27, 4 p. m.—Franco-American forces are driving on the southern extremity of the Soissons-Meims salient between Verneuil and Chatillon-sur-Marne. They have tightened this salient of the pocket until it is about 8 kilometers or less than 5 miles in width. French and American aviators bombed the main road south of Epieds, blocking traffic for eleven hours.

BOY SCOUTS RETURNED FROM
STATE COLLEGE

Twenty-eight members of Troop 2, Boy Scouts, DuBois, returned home yesterday afternoon from State College, where they have been camping for the past week. The boys were in charge of scout master J. C. A. Holland and Assistant Wayne Freas. They occupied tents on the college campus and had free access to every facility of the college gymnasium and grounds. Two hours of drill were had each day, an hour in the morning and one hour in the afternoon, the instruction being given by a regular army officer stationed at that institution.

It was an outing enjoyed by every member and they returned home hugely pleased with the trip.

The party passed through Clearfield and lined up in front of the Court House about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and serenaded District Attorney Arnold with several of their camp songs.

The genial District Attorney was tickled to death to see the kids, every one of whom was known to him personally, and made them a neat little speech before they jumped into their cars and started for home.

A SOLDIER'S PRAYER

Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my soul to keep.
Grant no other soldier take
My shoes and sox before I wake.

Lord guard me in my sleep
And keep my bunk upon its feet;
May the bark not tear or break
And let me down before I wake!

Keep me safely in Thy sight
And grant no one drill tonight
And in the morning let me wake
Breathing waifs of British attack!

Lord protect me in my dreams
And make this better than it seems
Grant the time may wifely fly
When I myself may rest on high
In a snowy feather bed
When I long to rest my head.

Far away from all these scenes
From the smell of hash and beans
Take me back into the land
Where they don't scrub down with sand
When "caldron" "Northern" blows
And where the women wash the clothes.

Pitcairn Island, situated in the Pacific almost midway between Australia and South America is probably the most isolated inhabited spot in the world. Sometimes a year passes without the arrival of mail. Letters are sent from the United States by way of San Francisco, and Tahiti and these lie at the latter place awaiting some vessel that will touch at the island. It once happened that only two vessels called there during a period of twenty-six years.

Best For Washing Sweaters

YOU take no chances when you wash sweaters with 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips. They cleanse perfectly and without injury because pure Borax and soap are the only ingredients in

MULE TEAM
BORAX SOAP CHIPS

Sweaters washed in a luke-warm solution of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips will not shrink. They will be soft, fluffy, and hygienically cleaned because the Borax purifies them of odors and dirt which woollens absorb so readily.

To get best results make a soap jelly by dissolving three tablespoons of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips in a quart of boiling water and add to wash water. After cleaning, rinse sweater in warm water, pull out, shake thoroughly and dry in sun or air. An 8 oz. package of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips equals 25¢ worth of ordinary laundry soap.

It's the Borax with the soap that does the work

In the western Atlantic, and the brilliant and daring feat of the British in bottling up the Teuton submarines bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge were among other events that the fourth year added to the history of the war.

The fifth year of the war begins with the United States in the center of the world's war stage. A million men are fighting under the Stars and Stripes in France and more millions are soon to follow. The United States is lending money by the hundreds of millions to the Allied governments. Its munitions and supplies are going to every nation warring against German autocracy. It is sending food to the fighting powers and is defying the ingenuity of the German submarines to sink the continuous line of ships that is bridging the Atlantic with supplies and men.

The fourth year of the war ends with the original contestants still locked in a death grapple, though with the general situation strongly favoring the Allies and with indications that decisive blows may be struck before many more weeks have passed.

The Fifth year, that begins tomorrow, will see a display of power on the part of the United States that will astound the world. The struggle is henceforth between American democracy and German autocracy. The chief contestants from this day are Uncle Sam and the Kaiser.

STANDARD PHYSICAL REQUIREMENTS FOR THE ENTIRE ARMY

Medical Department Adopts Regulations to Govern All Examinations

The following statement is authorized by the war department from the office of the surgeon general:

Uniform standards of physical examination governing the entrance to all branches of the armies of the United States for the use of all medical officers of the medical department of the army and of local and medical advisory boards under the selective-service regulations have just been mailed.

Guide to Local Physicians

Adherence to the new rules and regulations by the local boards will, it is expected, result in uniform examinations in all parts of the country and should prevent men physically disqualified for military service from being sent to camps. At the same time the new standards will enable local physicians to make examinations with a better understanding of the needs of the army and will clear away misconceptions and misunderstandings which will result in the sending of men to camps who heretofore were rejected.

The new standards are applicable to the Regular Army, National Army and the National Guard. Explicit instructions are given as to what classes of men may be accepted for limited service as well as what classes may be accepted pending treatment for remediable defects.

The experience of the past year has enabled the medical authorities to establish standards of examination which will relieve the local boards of considerable doubts as to just what decisions to make in unusual cases. Enough of these cases have been examined to establish a policy in determining their military fitness.

Standards Different Heretofore

Heretofore the physical standards of the three armies have differed and instances have been noted where men who have been rejected for service by the recruiting officers of the Regular army have been accepted for military service by draft board physicians. Under the new standards this will not be possible unless the disqualifying defect be subsequently removed. The rule for all three armies is that to make a good soldier a man must be able to see well, have comparatively good hearing, his heart must be able to stand the stress of physical exertion, he must be intelligent enough to understand and execute military maneuvers, obey commands, and protect himself, and must be able to transport himself by walking as the exigencies of military life may demand.

The exceptions made to the foregoing general rule are in the case of the men accepted for special and limited service.

EDITOR'S NEPHEW ABOARD

Ralph W. Bixler nephew of Editor John R. Bixler of the Curwensville Herald was a machinist's mate on the cruiser San Diego recently sunk off Fire Island.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Elder and son, who reside at Renovo, are visiting with relatives over on the South Side.

Mrs. Lantz, of Clearfield, was the guest of Mrs. Isaac Black on north Pine street, yesterday.

Harry Kittleberger has been laid off from work this week all on account of a dose of lumbago which has tried its best to knock him out.

The Liberty Chorus of Clearfield was present at the Eastv flag raising last evening and rendered some excellent patriotic music.

Miss Margaret Patterson let yesterday noon, over the B. & P., for Du Bois, where she will spend some days visiting with a cousin.

A goodly number of the town's sugar and maple shade trees which have died within the past six months, are being cut down and converted into kindling wood.

Seven Curwensville merchants have agreed to make only one free goods delivery per day. This new rule will be applied for the first time on Monday, July 29th.

Among the forty-four men who left for Camp Lee Thursday morning, nine of them were from Curwensville, and one, Willard McNaull, was transferred from Missouri to Curwensville's credit.

Last Wednesday evening, July 24th, Rev. J. Max Lantz, of the Methodist church united in the holy bonds of wedlock Guy E. Tozer and Miss Margaret E. Selfridge, both of this place.

The members of this year's graduating class of the Patton Graded High School were entertained at the home of Miss Marian Snyder, who was a member of the class, one evening the latter part of this week.

Mrs. James Taylor, who before her marriage was Gertrude Bilger, and who was born and raised in this town, visited her brothers here for an hour or so, she having stopped over while en route to her home in Youngstown, Ohio.

Lewis Spencer and Wife and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kirk, who reside on Ridge avenue, left Thursday morning by auto for a two week tour. Their itinerary will take them through Bedford Springs, Gettysburg, and Washington, D. C.

Mrs. J. H. Fullerton and Miss Margaretta Patterson, both of this place, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Cox at Clearfield and assisted in giving the Curwensville contingent of soldier boys a good send off when they entrained for Camp Lee.

Messrs. James and William Mumma, of this place, were summoned to their old home in Fulton county last Tuesday to attend the funeral of their father. The elder Mr. Mumma was a veteran of the Civil war, and a man of good standing in the community in which he lived.

Miss Mary Kirk arrived at the home of Mrs. A. M. Kirk, this place, Thursday evening and will visit for some time. She has recently been in Paris, France, and during her absence from this section some twenty years, has visited in a good many different parts of the world.

The much-advertised base ball game which was to have been played between the "Colored Giants" and a club from Clearfield at Athletic Park Thursday evening did not materialize, owing to the fact that the club from the county seat did not appear. "The Giants" were on hand however and ready to deliver their part of the goods. Rather than disappoint the crowd that had gathered a substitute nine was picked up and some half dozen innings played, but owing to darkness could not be completed.

Next Monday evening borough council will meet in regular monthly session. It is intimated that at that time, if council has not too much other business on hand, the topic of negotiating with the water company for the purchase of the plant will be brot up. The main point to be discussed will be the money question and the best means for securing the amount needed without putting too much of a burden on the taxpayers. Ninety per cent. of the citizens are of the opinion that it would pay the borough in the long run to own the water plant as well as the electric light. Other towns have taken a leap at running their own water and electric light plants, and bonded their municipalities for a sum much larger than the whole indebtedness of Curwensville is at the present time. Every town that has made the venture has, and is finding out that it pays their towns to own their plants, and that it is only a matter of a few years, not over fifteen, that these plants taken over have paid off their own indebtedness and are now money makers for the towns and the people who reside therein. There is no doubt in the minds of those who have figured on the water question for Curwensville, of the insufficiency of this plant paying for itself. Let the people get together on this matter of high importance to each tax payer, petition the Raftsmen Water company for a conference and get a bona fide offer, which ought to be a reasonable one and then no doubt the people would sit up and take notice.

It seems that James Humphrey, of Pike township, is being unduly censored because he did not go to Camp Lee with the rest of the boys the other day. He made the effort all right, and went over a DuBois, from which point he was registered, and there learned that his name was not in Class 1 at all, but back in Class 4. He learned something else too, and that was just so long as he remained on the farm his name would be retained in Class 4, but if he left the farm, then he would be placed in Class 1. So it was not the lad's fault that he did not go.

The raising of a handsome flag over at Eastv last evening took a large proportion of the people residing in town and South Side in that direction. Eastv is not a very large place, but there are as many truly patriotic citizens living over there to the square foot as can be found anywhere in the United States. The people and committee who had the event in charge have worked hard and denied themselves no little pleasure in securing funds sufficient to purchase the flag and arranging for the patriotic event of having it thrown to the breeze.

The speakers for the occasion were Squire John A. Dale who was chairman of the committee or rather of the meeting, Rev. Max Lantz who offered an inspiring and emotional prayer, Judge Singleton Bell, of Clearfield, John M. Bain and Joseph E. Phillips of Clearfield and Mr. Way, borough chairman of the Four Minute Men organization of Curwensville. If a young man ever did have the spirit of '76 in his anatomy, it was certainly renewed with a stronger love for his country after listening to the patriotic addresses. At intervals throut the program music was rendered by the Crescent band and the Liberty Chorus of Clearfield and Old Glory was flung to the breeze while the Star Spangled Banner was rendered by the Crescent band and the chorus under the leadership of Professor Thayer while the entire assemblage joined in the singing. The committee in charge consisted of James Rider, Robert Eckert and Mrs. J. H. Fullerton who deserve considerable praise for the manner in which the entertainment was carried out. Prior to the exercises the band and chorus headed a fair sized parade from the park House to Eastv.

More Time Out of Doors---

You will thoroughly enjoy getting out of doors these hot, stuffy summer days, but perhaps you do not have the time because there is so much work to be done in your kitchen. If this is the case in your home you can easily change your kitchen work from drudgery to a pleasure, and at the same time save from two to three hours' every day for getting out of doors.

Dutch Kitchenets Are Labor Savers

The Dutch Kitchenet is cupboard, pantry and work table in one. Seated in front of this high grade kitchen cabinet you have within your reach every ingredient and every cooking utensil necessary to do your cooking and to prepare an entire meal. This eliminates all the walking about the kitchen, which is the most tiring work. It also eliminates all the time it usually takes for getting everything together to prepare a meal.

It means an actual saving of from two to three hours a day. This extra time can be spent out of doors in the garden, in the park, walking, automobiling or any other outdoor pleasure.

Buy A Dutch Kitchenet Now

This is the time when help of every sort is scarce. You need a Dutch Kitchenet more badly now than ever before. Our stock includes all the popular styles, and the prices you will find extremely moderate. We urge you to come to our store at once and select a Dutch Kitchenet that exactly pleases you.

The Chevrolet Motor Company considers a motor car purchase from the standpoint that it is an important investment.

They have built with this idea in mind, with a full realization that the car itself must make the distinction between investment and liability.

The Chevrolet is an investment, not alone because of its moderate price, but because of the little it costs after its purchase. In low upkeep especially, does the price of the Chevrolet qualify as an investment rich in economical service returns.

That the Chevrolet has become a world-wide favorite is not hazardous success, but the merited result of a conscientious manufacturing policy.

HUMANITY'S PAYER

By J. E. Myers, Mansfield, Ohio
O God, Our Father, we earnestly desire to give Thee thanks for all the blessings which enable us, our Father to come to Thee according to Thy knowledge of us. Commune with us and grant us comfort in sadness, guidance in perplexities, strength for all duty and preservation from all evil. If in thought, word or deed we have grieved Thee forgive us for the sake of Him who gave Himself for us, and wherein we have failed, grant us sufficient grace that we fail no more. May Thy good spirit make Thee so real to us, and reveal Thee so consciously near to us in all that lies before us, that when the hours of this day shall have passed away forever, there may be left no saddening memories of failures.

In all these things hear us, O Father, for others as well as ourselves, for all those dearest to us whether close at hand or far away. Grant a very special blessing on the heroic men and women who have given their full measure of devotion for all mankind—in foreign lands, in camps, trenches and hospitals and Red Cross services. May Thy strong arm protect and sustain them in all varied activities and manifold dangers, as they offer their very lives as a sacrifice on humanity's altar of liberty. May their mother's face be even before them, and Thy strong hand rest on their right shoulder to give courage and strength in their most trying moments.

For all these blessings and for Thy protecting influence, we offer our utmost praise and thanks to Thee, Triune God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, now and forever, world without end, and the glory only thine, AMEN.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR JULY 28

OBEYING GOD.

LESSON TEXTS—Matthew 4:18-22; John 1:22-24, James 1:2-7.
GOLDEN TEXT—If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments—John 14:15.
DEVOTIONAL READING—John 15:1-17.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Laying God and doing his will.

LESSON MATERIAL—Matthew 4:18-22; James 1:2-7.
INTERMEDIATE, SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Obedience. To whom? Why? How?

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—1. Chronicles 16:15. Psalms 100:3-5; Matthew 5:19; John 15:12-14, 1 John 3:3-6, 17.

Obedience is a vital part of our religion. The obedience of the Christian is not legal but filial. Eternal life is not secured through obedience, but obedience is the tangible evidence that one possesses it.

1. The Call of the First Disciples (Matt. 4:18-22).
1. By whom—Jesus Christ (v. 18).
Jesus is the Son of God. Since he is equal with God, he has the right to call. Those who hear his call should render instant and hearty obedience.

2. The circumstances of their call (v. 18).
The call came to them while they were busy with their business interests. God always calls men who are vitally engaged in some business, not those in idleness.

3. The nature of (v. 19).
It was a definite call, in that definite men were called into a definite service.

(1) To follow Christ. We must follow Christ before we can serve him. Only Christians can do Christian work. We should follow him to be like him, in order to win others to him.
(2) To win men for him—"Fishers of men." Christ calls men into work of the same character as that in which they were engaged. They had been fishers for fish; now they are to be fishers of men. When Christ calls men he does not call them to a lower service. This is a fine case of promotion. Men catch fish to kill and feed upon them, but Christ's disciples catch men to make them alive and feed them.

4. Response to Christ's call (vv. 20-22).
(1) They left their business interests immediately.
(2) They not only left their business, but James and John left their father also. Following Jesus sometimes means turning one's back upon business interests and dearest friends and relations. Regardless of what it costs, the true disciple will render instant obedience to the call of Christ, because he has a right to call us, and we can trust his wisdom to not call until he has need.

II. The Motive for Obedience (John 14:22-24).
The grand motive actuating obedience is love to Christ. The proof that we do love him is that we obey him. Even when we may not be conscious of unusual outpourings of affection, the conclusive evidence that we love is that we obey. Keeping his commandments means such a regard for them that we highly treasure them as something precious. The reward for such obedience is to have Christ's Spirit upon us (John 14:16, 17). Then, too, the Father will love us, and he and the Son will take up their abode with us. This abode is not temporary but permanent.

III. The Kind of Obedience (That Counts) (James 1:22-27).
1. The obedience of deeds (vv. 22-24).
Hearing God's Word will do no good unless it is accompanied with obedience. Hearing and not doing is as futile as beholding one's face in a looking glass and forgetting what manner of man he is. Calling Christ (Lord), and not doing what he says, with all nothing (Matt. 7:21, 23). To pretend to know God and not keep his commandments is to lie (1 John 2:4).
2. The obedience of perseverance (v. 25).
We should not only look into God's Word and admire its perfections, but steadfastly and persistently do the things required. Only those who thus persevere shall be blessed in their deeds.

3. The obedience of speech (v. 26).
The one who has genuine religion will control his tongue. Just as the physician oftentimes can diagnose the physical condition of the patient by an examination of the tongue, so the moral and spiritual condition of the individual can be determined by the speech of the individual. The one who does not control his tongue proves that his religion is empty and void.
4. The obedience of kindness (v. 27).
Those who have received the kindness of God will manifest that kindness in their lives. This kindness will express itself in ministering to the fatherless and widows.

5. The obedience of purity of life (v. 27).
The Law of God enjoins upon his children not only purity of life, but abstinence from all appearance of evil. The one who has been made a partaker of the Divine nature keeps himself from the sins of the world. It means his separation from the things of the world which corrupt.

There will be no supper served or dancing at the Country Club Saturday, July 27.

Our Ads Plainly Say---

"Buy Now For The Future"

A customer remarked to us that she noticed an unmistakable strain, all seeming to say that she should buy what she needs and right away. Also to give close thought to the next several months and lay her plans for purchasing accordingly.

Just about a year ago we forecasted a scarcity of merchandise and the conditions ruling today.

It is not yet too late to take this advice and put it into effect at once.
